CementCMU COLLECTION

A person wearing a light-colored long-sleeved shirt and a cap is working on a large wooden frame. The frame is filled with many thin, light-colored rods or rebar, arranged in a grid-like pattern. The person is using a pair of pliers to work on one of the rods. The background is a bright, overexposed sky.

Storing, warehousing and incessant collecting of things could be classified as an obsessive-compulsive disorder...

But “it might be useful” ... And that’s it. In combination with überskillful hands of local craftsmen it would be a shame to throw away even a package of building materials ...

WHAT?

Cement factory is in every country. Burkina has one too. Diamont one.

Until recently, the cement package has been like anywhere else - the three-layer paper bag, which has been disappearing from the construction site as a vapor and is still perfectly used to wrap anything ... You buy a grilled fish, you get it in “papier-Diamont.” Do you want freshly baked muffin for 25 francs, voila, here it is, wrapped in “papier-Diamont.” You negotiate great price of 50.000 francs for ebony statuette from a local artist and high-class packaging is the “papier-Diamont” rolled up several times with a tape ...

“Papier Diamont” is everywhere ... But the world develops and Diamont as well... The factory followed up with a boom of “Diamont sac”. Plastic bag structure is not unlike the one of potato bags ... Durable plastic canvas is everywhere ... Blinds in restaurants, a truck cover or in the markets as shaders for ladies frying and packaging the food into old good “paper Diamont” ...

So we could sell the bags from our construction site for a hundred francs each, OR ...

OR?...

Or sit down and figure out what might please the eye and the heart of our friends ...

However, we are not inventing the wheel ... Recycled accessory or even the entire fashion is popular here... Well, we have some articles sold in the local market righthere.

But perhaps the expansion to the international market, rather expansion to Prague, meets a twinkle in the eye of all who are involved in the construction works.

So voila, our tentative offer, here it is. Your response, especially critically constructive (but also only flattering to read) is welcome with no limits ...

MOUSSA!!!

A man, Moussa, is shown in a workshop, focused on operating a vintage Singer sewing machine. He is wearing a white short-sleeved shirt and a yellow measuring tape is draped around his neck. The machine is ornate with a large wooden wheel and a silver-colored body. In the foreground, there are several large, crumpled pieces of light-colored fabric or paper. The background is slightly blurred, showing a workshop environment with other people and equipment. The overall tone is warm and documentary.

Moussa, a tailor with a huge smile and incredible talent to make a bag or a container for anything. Whether for a phone or for a truck ... Fast ...

From Monday to Sunday, without unnecessary breaks because his “Singier” works the way Moussa spins. No power cutoff may endanger his feet drive.

Moussa originally from Bobo, raised up in Bobo, installed in the family in Bobo ... he himself estimates his age by fortish, which is due to several budding white hair a conservative estimation.

Occasionally one of his three children runs around the table. He wants to send them all to school. At least for five years. As did he ... “Because the futur is in education,...”
